

WORLD PHILOLOGY UNION

The World Philology Union (WPU) is an international association which promotes the philological study of written cultural heritage from all regions of the world.

www.philology.org

The WPU welcomes applications for membership.

Please send an e-mail to:
members@philology.org

The philological study of written cultural heritage, traditionally the very core of the humanities, has during the last half-century been either marginalized within universities or even banished from some of them. The World Philology Union (WPU) invites philologists in all fields to unite in an effort to preserve and promote philology as a unified discipline at all levels of education and research.

Membership fees: €40 per year for scholars affiliated to a university or a research institution, €10 per year for independent scholars and students and €200 per year for institutional members.

Support the cause! We welcome charitable contributions of any amount.

World Philology Union
WPU – www.philology.org

Org. no. 931 615 912
Administrative office:
Norwegian Institute of Philology (PHI)

P.O. Box 2709
0204 Oslo
Norway

Bank account:
1251.06.74357

Tel.: +47 954 01 754
E-mail: post@philology.org

IBAN: NO06 1251 0674 357
BIC: DNBANOKKXXX

Visiting Address:

Norwegian Institute of Philology
Gydas vei 4, Majorstuen
0363 Oslo
Norway